What giving looks like.

“Bob and I participated in the 2023 giving challenge to purchase new equipment for Foundation Therapy Specialists at Elder Care. It was an easy decision for me because I believe physical therapy has kept me at home rather than going to a nursing home. Falling at home is my greatest concern, and I know physical therapy has kept me active and strong.

Everyone wants to be independent. Physical therapy is my way of achieving independence.” - Flora Paul

At retirement, Patricia Roberts moved to Bartlesville to be near her daughter and son-in-law and found a new calling as a volunteer. She serves at Elder Care on Thursdays for a couple of hours on special projects or daily tasks, such as file archiving and invoicing clients.

“The work is easy. I fold statements, stuff them in envelopes, add a return address label, run the envelopes through the postage meter, and then take them to the post office. Some may think the work is menial, but it needs to be done and I know my work is valued.”

Carol Davis, Billing and Credentialing Specialist at Elder Care, believes Patricia is an asset to Elder Care, and her volunteer support is critical to the responsibilities of her position. “Patricia’s contribution of time and talent allows me to focus and complete the more intricate areas of my workload. She is willing to take on any task required, and I am blessed to have her assistance.”

Patricia enjoys the flexibility afforded to her in a pleasant atmosphere. “People here are friendly, there is flexibility with my schedule, and with what little bit of time I can contribute, I feel good because I know Elder Care appreciates and values my contribution.”
